Introduction

SK.

Imām Khomeinī (s) was a man proclaimed monotheism [tawhīd] in the present age At the age of being alien with the spirit of love and faith, havould form a great resurrection with his Christ-like breath and rise against idolatry and polytheism. He was infatuated with the Qur'an. Through reciting and reflecting upon its verses, he came out of the dark house of the self and with his holy breath followed up the prophetic and Alawite invitation to the revelation truth, justice law, and the love's path. He introduces the Qur'an as a book of manmolding and guidance which meets all man's needs, deals with his individual and social issues, opposes the oppression, wakens man, and causes man to stand against oppressors. He regards the grandeur and dignity of the Muslims in the past being as a result of acting upon the Qur'an, their present helplessness and feebleness for the sake of their separation from this Holy Book, and their present life and honor hinging upon their referring to the Qur'an. &
